The Dimmer VIEW

By MAX GOODWIN

It was Ed Singer, the division superintendent of the San Diego County Road Department who reminded me the other day "that if your kid hits you back you should have started hitting him years before."

Supporters for Justice Court Judge Luther Hussey were out in force last week attempting to put out the fire started when this newspaper reported behind-the-scenes maneuvering by which our one-and-only court is being taken away. The supporters did a pretty good job, but then they had darn good coaching.

Justice Judge Hussey had made trips to Sacramento to induce lawmakers to produce an Act by which the promotion of a justice judge becomes automatic when the judicial district is consolidated with a municipal district. No word leaked out on this until the supervisors, without prior warning, said let's do this to Hussy's court without study or hearing. They did not consider, nor get a request to do so from the other eight judicial district judges.

In the putting-the-fire-out department came Dr. Frank Gigliotti who made an unscheduled plea Friday noon at the Men's Club backing Judge Hussey's actions. Men's Club founder and community developer George Casteel finally interrupted Gigliotti by asking what is this Hussey has done for Lemon Grove that occasions such flattery? That stopped that speech.

At the same hour of the same day I attended a board meeting of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce to hear that further action they might take to halt the loss of the court after Chamber President Earl Smart had properly protested to the supervisors. That this is proper is indicated by the fact that the Spring Valley Chamber, the La Mesa Chamber, the Spring Valley Coordinating Council and the Casa de Oro Civic Association and numerous individuals also protested.

But board member Bert Betts who earlier this year nearly had his brains bumped out by voters in a school board election for practically the same thing, took the stump for Hussey and for consolidating the courts. He ridiculed the opinions of those who spoke in favor of taking further action. His browbeating tactics never allowed for a proposal to come forward—except his own. He insisted, without proof of course, that if the court could be saved it would be a matter of but "six months before it would be annexed to El Cajon (Municipal Curt District"). "So what is this meeting about?" he kept demanding. He further stated that any action against the board of supervisors would result in the supervisors retaliating against the community. I pulled the string on him for threatening "blackmail" on the part of the supervisors for any action the board might take. Betts then denied that he said it, although a room full of board members heard him.

In such an atmosphere he did ram through a motion "not to oppose the supervisors" on the court consolidation. It was seconded by Dr. Thayer Crow who is Hussey's personal physician. There were then three "aye" votes, no noes.

Dr. Crowe had the sensitivity to visit my office later later to say that he had seconded Bett's motion "just for kicks" and that he had no feeling one way or another.

Just to put some of the other gears in proper place in the machinery, I think it is important to note that the official supervisors minutes of August 7th state that one John Leppert, represented the San Diego Taxpayers Association requests consolidation of the courts which raises Hussey's wages from $5,100 a year to $16,500 as "an economical

Parking Districts Are Free In Corporate Towns Says Attorney

Bob Casey, attorney who handled the details of La Mesa's parking district, told the Men's Club Friday that any incorporated community could set up a parking district under a 1951 Act without cost. He said that revenue bonds would stand against income from meters on the property acquired for parking. Lemon Grove, he said, would have to work out a different arrangement, probably a 1911 Improvement Act process if a district were to be formed.

This Friday, Don Hansen, vice president of the S.D. Rapid Transit System which supplies transportation to the Lemon Grove area, will be speaker.

George Scott, developer of the College Grove Shopping Center, who had been scheduled as speaker September 20, asked for a postponement of his meeting. He said, by letter, "Prededicated on the sale by the State of California Highway Division of the adjoining area to Lemon Grove Center, a dramatic and wonderful new plan will unfold. It will involve an invitation and its acceptance of another large department store to join us in College Grove Center.

"I prefer not to come (to the Men's Club) on September 20 but await the above, which is due in 40 days, and then come and outline the full great story."

All men are invited to attend Men's Club meetings which are held every Friday at Michael's at noon. At the Scott meeting women will also be invited.

Well Programmed Year Seen For Vogues

A call to order was sounded Tuesday night by Mrs. Frank Setchell as she brought the gavel down at the first business meeting of the Vogues. Vogues is the evening section of the Lemon Grove Woman' Club.

After a three month's vacation members were eager to hear of the plans for the coming season as planned by Mrs. J. Ross, Program Chairman. She promised gay, varied and interesting programs centered around the club's theme "Self Improvement." As an extension of the theme with a flavor of exercise involved, Mrs. Ralph Nelson discussed a proposed Figure Control class.

Hit-Run Suspect Bound Over

Gustav H. Felt, Jr., of 3619 Niblick Drive, La Mesa (Brookside), who supposedly drove the hit and run car that injured 17 year old Judy Myers of 8836 Campo Road, August 2, had his preliminary hearing in the El Cajon Court last Tuesday. Presiding was Judge Lowell Howell of Chula Vista, who sat in for Judge Garfield, who was on vacation.

Felt was bound over to Superior Court and must appear September 10, at 9:15 a.m.

Judy Myers was struck in front of her home after she had started across the street to catch a bus. She said she saw Felt's car coming and ran back to the curb. She claimed she was hit while on the curb and was tossed several feet by the impact.

The young girl has been released from Grossmont Hospital, but will be on crutches for several months, according to her mother.

C of C Votes 'Not To Oppose' Court Loss

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, in a special board meeting Friday decided "not to oppose the supervisors action in consolidating the Homeland Judicial Court with the San Diego court system."

The meeting had been called by chamber president W. Earl Smart to decide what further action should be taken following his protest as chamber president when it was ascertained that Lemon Grove would lose its court.

Smart, however, became ill and vice president Ernie Newton presided. Wallace Dorman, board member and attorney reviewed the processes by which a court was established in Lemon Grove. He pointed out that there was little likelihood the consolidation could be stopped. "It is apparent a railroad job was done and we don't like it," he said.

Bert Betts, accountant, then argued for the chamber to go on record as not opposing the consolidation. This was seconded by Dr. Thayer Crow. Norman Flannery asked that a letter be written to the supervisors asking that due notice be given local residents prior to decisions affecting the community.

RIHA'S BID REJECTED BY LM-SV SCHOOL DISTRICT

La Mesa-Spring Valley Board of Education members were told last week that contractor George Riha's low bid on construction of the two classroom, self-contained unit for special students in La Mesa, was not acceptable to the State Agency. Riha's bid of $59,887, was $4,167 over the estimate. The unit was to have been built with State Aid Funds.

Under directions of the Board, Business Manager Fred Lance and Architect Less Eggers went to Los Angeles last Wednesday to ascertain whether the department would reconsider and send the project to the Allocation Board, Sacramento for approval.

Associate Superintendent Ted Dixon advises against a second proposal which would redesign the structure and re-bid the project. He says that the blueprints already follow the guidelines of the Citizens Advisory Council's "Criteria for Economy."

Avocado Root-Rot Taking Many SD Trees

A group of some 30 people, made up of prominent avocado growers, legislative representatives and university research men, participated in a tour sponsored by the San Diego County Farm Bureau under their chairman Walter Beck, of Fallbrook. Starting on Frank Capra's Red Mountain Ranch in Fallbrook, the group saw acres of dead and dying avocado trees that are suffering from the disease commonly known as "root-rot." Dr. George Zentmyer, research pathologist with the University of California at Riverside, reviewed the research work in soil fumigation that he is doing. He also pointed out the inability of the research people to successfully find fruit-bearing root stocks that are resistant to the soil fungus.

Harry Roche, chief deputy in the county agriculture commissioner's office gave figures to the group that indicated a loss of from 400 to 500 acres annually to the disease.

Sheridan Hegland, Assemblyman, expressed his concern with the serious threat the disease poses to the estimated 14 million dollar income to the county's agricultural economy.

Walter Beck, chairman of the San Diego County Farm Bureau, Avocado Section, stated that the disease can be found in all parts of the county and is appearing in areas that were previously believed immune. He announced that growers are being urged to contribute to a grower-research fund of $10,000.00 that would provide for continued and expanded research on the problem.

Helix District Users Not Wasteful Says 'Save Water' Head

Helix Irrigation District's citizens have compiled an outstanding water-saving record in the first seven months of 1957, using 10 per cent less water than the same period a year ago, Frank E. Smith, executive director of the Don't Waste Water Campaign revealed this week.

The 1957 usage was only 8,393 acre feet of water in the Helix Irrigation District compared with 9,312 in 1956.

Smith pointed out that Helix's record is the ninth best of any water district in San Diego County this year.

The Don't Waste Water Campaign is aiming at a total county-wide saving of 10 billion gallons this year.

Water experts have predicted a shortage of between 7 and 10 billion gallons for San Diego County this year.

A week ago Byron Miller, Helix manager said a six percent increase in usage during the August hot spell had cut down the advantage gained by a cool spring season.

Local Judge Takes Law Partners

A partnership for the general practice of law has been formed by Luther N. Hussey, Judge, Homeland Justice Court, Gilbert Harelson, City Attorney for La Mesa, former Deputy Attorney General and former Deputy District Attorney, together with William F. Davies, former Deputy District Attorney.

They will maintain offices in two locations, at 7898 Broadway, Lemon Grove and at 8359 La Mesa Blvd., La Mesa.

WED—Peggy Jean Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Thomas, 4117 Citradora Street in Spring Valley, was married to Wiliam Engle Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Engle of Pacific Beach.
The ceremony took place August 1 at St. Francis Chapel in Balboa Park followed by a reception at the House of Hospitality. They have taken up residence at Mission Beach. Both are employed at Ryan Aircraft.

REAL ESTATE CLASSES PLANNED BY UC EXT.

SAN DIEGO — San Diegans interested in obtaining professional real estate certificates will have an opportunity to enroll in a University of California Extension course of study this fall which, when completed, will fulfill nearly all of the requirements.

This is the UC Extension certificate program in Real Estate, open to bona fide real estate brokers, salesmen and persons in related fields. Initial classes in the program will be held at Roosevelt Junior High School, beginning September 16.

The real estate program is an eight-course series, and normally takes two years to complete. Upon completion, the University Extension issues the successful student a Certificate in Real Estate.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

We wish to explain why an announced series of concerts in the plaza near the lemon will be discontinued. In the first place, few people attended them—mostly my friends. Virtually no one in Lemon Grove supported it or helped in an appreciable measure.

Laguna Beach was once a nondescript beach area. However, when it discovered art that community sykrocketed into a deluxe resort.

We tried to do the same with music for Lemon Grove. It certainly had everything to gain.

Unstinting praise must be given to Arden Enterprises for its loan of very expensive hi-fidelity equipment for this public service.

Very truly yours,
Midwest Escrow Corp.,

POSTMASTER MEETING SCHEDULED

Ferrell Louraine, Oceanside postmaster, was hostess for the San Diego County Postmaster's Association, August meeting. The meeting was held at Marty's in Oceanside, August 22.

Milton Swiers, Assistant District Postal Manager, was guest speaker of the evening. Introduced as the honored guests were Captain Henry Bartyzel, Base Postal Officer of Camp Pendleton, and Warrant Officer Murray Dowler, Postal Officer of the First Marine Division, Camp Pendleton.

Greeted as a new member of the Association was Postmaster Boyden Hammond of Vista. Hammond received his commission July 26. He succeeded Acting Postmaster Winfield Watts. Ed Wright, Association president, of National City, suggested the September meeting be held in La Jolla, in conjunction with the Postal Supervisors meeting. Suggestion is under consideration.

Stammerjohn Attends CTA State Meet

ASILOMAR Spcl.)—Presidents of 360 local chapters of California Teachers Association convened here last week for a three-day conference to determine methods by which th local groups and the State Association, working together, may improve relationships between the schools and the public.

The seminar, designed to train local presidents, will feature meetings on 35 different subjects with which each president should be conversant. They range from discussion of methods of planning and conducting meetings to ethical presentation of teacher attitudes to school boards and administrators.

Arthur F. Corey, executive secretary of the CTA, declared that the CTA is planning renewed emphasis upon the professional duties of teachers, including maintenance of high standards, improvement in teacher methods, and self-discipline in the profession.

Robert Rees, director of field service for CTA, was in charge of arrangements.

Attending from Lemon Grove Teachers Association was Rick Stammerjohn.

5 Days Goes With Second '502' Rap

California's amended anti-drunk-driving law, Section 502 of the State Vehicle Code, requires immediate coordination of agencies and the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Paul Mason, Director of Motor Vehicles said in Sacramento this week that a new provision in the section effective Sept. 11, embodies a 1956 recommendation of Governor Goodwin J. Knight's traffic safety program requiring courts to impose both a minimum five-day jail sentence and a fine of not less than $250 upon any driver convicted a second or subsequent time of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

"The mandatory nature of this strong provision applicable to drunk-driving repeaters is made even more effective by another new provision prohibiting the courts from granting probation and from suspending sentences in such cases," Mason said. "The result is that the courts, as well as traffic police, sheriffs, district attorneys and probation officers will require immediate reference to the accused person's driving record on file in the Division of Drivers Licenses in the Department's Sacramento headquarters."

He said the Department of Motor Vehicles is preparing a memorandum of instructions for the courts and other affected agencies, advising them as to the most effective methods of securing the needed driver record information promptly. The Department's records staff is being organized to provide the information by teletype or other means of rapid communication.

The Director said first offense penalties were also strengthened by increasing the minimum fine, if a fine is imposed by the court, from $50 to $250. The first offense jail sentence alternative remains at 30 days to six months in the county jail. "But for second and subsequent offenders," he said, "no alternative is permitted the courts as to jail or fine. It must be both, for offenders who repeat."

Drivers' Licenses To Expire On Owners' Birthday

California motorists gain several important new legal protections relative to ownership and safe operation of their vehicles under the provisions of scores of bills signed into law by Governor Goodwin J. Knight, during and after the 1957 Regular Session of the Legislature.

Paul Mason, Director of Motor Vehicles, today in Sacramento reviewed major developments in Department of Motor Vehicles responsibilities under amended or added provisions of the State's Vehicle Code, most of them effective Sept. 11, 1957.

"The driving license function is given added effectiveness by new statutes that provide incentive to all licensed drivers to maintain safe records, so that they may be entitled to renew their licenses for five years instead of for shorter periods," Mason said. "This is a major adaptation of a 'merit' system to driver licensing."

The new license laws will place first-time licensees on a three year-term. If they maintain good records their licenses may become eligible for five-year renewal. If their records show two or more traffic violations in the case of operators, or four or more in the case of chauffeurs, they may receive renewals for probationary two year terms only. Failure to renew within 30 days of the expiration date of any license results in limitation of renewal to the three-year period, similar to an original or first-time license. The commission of any felony in which a motor vehicle is involved is grounds for limiting the renewal to two years.

These terms for drivers' licenses are also to be tied in with a new provision establishing the applicant's birthday as the expiration date, in the final year of the term of the license. Adjustment of the current four-year term licenses to the new anniversary date will be made as present licensees apply for renewal. Another new provision permits application for renewal within the six months' period before expiration date.

"We believe these changes in the law will encourage drivers to be more prompt in renewing licenses as they near expiration," Mason commented. "The birthday anniversary date will remind every licensee to inspect his license on each birthday, making it easier to remember the legal obligation to keep it valid by timely renewal."

The Director cited as another improvement the new provision requiring that operator's licenses be specially endorsed to permit driving of motor vehicles weighing more than 12,000 pounds, or driving any motor vehicle towing another vehicle weighing more than 6,000 pounds. Currently the Department of Motor Vehicles issues licenses to chauffeurs classified as to type of vehicle to be driven in their employment. The existing law, however, permitted some owner drivers to operate heavy equipment without specific testing of their qualifications.

Another new law will require applicants for drivers' licenses to demonstrate ability to read and understand simple English used in highway traffic control and directional signs. "This is an essential qualification for every driver in today's traffic conditions," Mason said. He also commended the legislative enactment of a law requiring that a photograph of the licensee be shown on the face of the license. Mason commented: "The photograph will make the license a better means of identification, and will increase its value in general law enforcement programs." He added that the Department of Motor Vehicles is now studying means of putting this new provision into operation, but the exact effective date has not been determined.

Motor Vehicle legislation this year made an important acknowledgement of the heavier responsibility every motorist must carry for meeting the cost of damages in highway accidents, by amending the Financial Responsibility laws. Liability requirement limits are increased from the existng $5,000-$10,000-$1,000 minimums to $10,000-$20,000-$5,000 respectively. These new limits generally become operative on July 1, 1959.

WAIT— Before You Buy Your Child a Musical Instrument— You should consider the advantage of local rental!

Musical Instruments for SCHOOL

CASHION offers the only instrumental rental service in the area. It gives parents a great advantage and great savings over the "buy and regret" system. It also gives the youth the freedom of choice after trial without burdening the parent with costly investment. Of course, when you rent at Cashion, you do so with the privilege of buying later and your rent which you have already paid in may be applied on the purchase.

Music Lessons

CASHION co-ordinates its program of instrument selection and instruction with that of the local public school system. This means that your child will not be faced with haphazard choice of instrument and be faced with months of practice with no hope of pubic appearance with a regular musical group of his own age and ability bracket. By gearing Cashion activity with public school system programs, your boy or girl has a definite goal from the very first day he is enrolled in our music school—a real reward for effort that leads to progress.

SCHOOL

CASHION musical instructors are carefully screened and are selected, not only for their past achievements in the music world, but for their complete knowledge of the instruments they teach and for their ability to get along with young people and to recognize and develop the latent talent for music in each student. Thus you will see, Cashion really supplements your child's musical education with the lessons he receives in the public school.

First Nat'l Bank Marks 74th Year

The First National Trust and Savings Bank, San Diego County's oldest and largest independent bank, observed its 74th birthday last week.

Jack W. Koop, manager of First National's Lemon Grove branch, said that the bank looks to its 74 years of experience and growth as a springboard to a vigorous future.

Koop pointed out that it was August 27, 1883 when five far-sighted San Diegans met for the purpose of organizing the First National Bank of San Diego. These men were Jacob Grundike, R. A. Thomas, John Wolfskill, W. L. Parker and J. R. Thomas. On that day, after organizing the bank, it was decided that the bank would open for business on October 1, 1883 in the old Spencer Building on the corner of F and 5th streets with a capital of $25,000. Grundike was elected president.

Koop said that it was from this modest beginning that the bank has grown to be America's 137th largest bank with more than 615 employes and deposits bordering on one-fifth of a billion dollars.

The Lemon Grove branch was opened in June of 1949.

SCHOOL POEM REVIVED FOR GRANDSON

Because the thought is eternal in the minds of all mothers who send their first born off to school, we share this little poem with you. The author is Mrs. Frank Gigliotti the mother-in-law of Jean Bloom Gigliotti, who resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Bloom, 2061 El Dora St., Monterey Heights. Mrs. Gigliotti whote the poem to commemorate her son Bob's first day at school. He is the deceased husband of Jean Bloom Gigliotti, who prepares to send their oldest son off this year to his first day at school.

FIRST TEACHER

She asked me, and I came, almost afraid
Of some strange disillusion: Often when
I saw her at the market or at Church,
Or at the corner drugstore, now and then,
I wondered if her loveliness would fade
When gazed at in the classroom's light and shade.
I came, half thrilled, with half a sigh
And saw my little one's adoring eyes
Light up beneath the radiance of her smile.
She spoke: a hundred other trusting eyes
Smiled back at her. "God keep her wise
"As she is gracious, competent and mild,"
I prayed. And I was glad she is the one
Who shares safe-keeping of my little son.

—Mabelle P. Gigliotti.

step." Who do you suppose represented Lemon Grove at that meeting and urged the board to take action? It was John Dail, a local insuranceman.

Bert Betts, who rammed through a "no opposition" motion at the Chamber meeting has the same business address as Luther Hussey. John Dail who urged the supervisors to consolidate the courts also has the same business address as Luther Hussey.

Little wonder why that address is jocularly referred to locally as the "Lemon Grove Court House."

National Newspaper Week comes October 1-8 this year and we'll add our contribution to the millions of nice words that'll be said by newspapers about themselves.

Before that time I want to join with my neighbors who complain regularly about the throw-away publications which label themselves as newspapers and use their emanations to clutter up the lawns.

Most of the gripes we get concerns attempts to get the darn things stopped. Even after several calls to the publications involved, I am told, the things are still dumped on the lawns.

Some people simply don't want to receive these publications. Some people don't want to read this newspaper either. When they feel that we do not serve them, or the community, they don't have to call us to stop it. They simply withhold their subscription payment.

On the other hand we feel complimented when a renewal comes in because the reader says in so doing that we've given them a pretty good word picture of their community for the past 52 weeks.

One of our local business men long noted for his benevolence asked me last week to join him in starting a Christmas fund for local needy families.

He said that it is not too early to gather local resources among those who want to make contributions direct to those who might, for reasons beyond their control, have less than you'd care to see a neighboring family have at holiday time.

To this end he said he would put up $100 to start the fund and asks that others join in by indicating to what extent they could be called on for in case the actual need comes. A committee would be made up of the three largest contributors to assess to what extent the needy families get help.

All activity, of course, will be cloaked in anonimity. If you would be a donor, call this column at this newspaper. If you know of a family which might be in dire straits come the holidays, also notify us.

We promise that no names, givers or receivers, will be publicized.

☆Too often when there's a piano to be moved, too many reach for the stool.

4-H PUTS ON 'BIG SPLASH' WITH CLUB-RAISED LAMB MAIN DISH

By DICK HENDERSON

Monday, August 26, was reported as having the highest temperature, 87°, of any August in the weather record, but Old Sol was lenient in the Lemon Grove area.

August 26th was marked on my calendar as something special, had a red ring and "Barbecue" around the date, and at 6 p.m. I was Dick-on-the-spot at Carman Ranch Swim Club, ready to eat barbecued lamb and fixin's.

This Carman Ranch Swim Club is a recent installation, with high redwood fence enclosing a swimpooy 35 by 75 ft. The street number be is 2515, but no number appears. Stan Rose, the lifeguard, told me that an elaborate sign had been erected but the kids had torn it down. Anyway, I parked and went in the open passage, found Lana Jaquith at the desk. I registered, got a tag with "I am ....., Who are you?" and tied it on my chest, grabbed a chair and sat down.

The pool was alive with kids swimming and tossing red rubber balls, diving and having a great time. It developed that the pool had been engaged by Lemon Grove 4-H Club for the evening, and some 100 persons were expected for the barbecue.

Mrs. Bert Cosby, Club Leader, had been busy for days arranging the program. She called on the parents of Club members for prepared food, and they came through generously.

At 8 o'clock a procession of ladies came in, each laden with a package. Mrs. Cosby brought the barbecued lamb, which had been cooked at Encanto. Other ladies had cooked the frijoles, and still othhers bbrought the potato salad.

Ricki Walsh, 4 years young, carrying his shoes, came up to me, smiled engagingly, told his name. I predict a career as contact man for him. His grandparents on both sides, Mr. and Mrs. Walsh and Mr. and Mrs. Turner. They had their eatin' tools handy, also a carving knife and fork, which came in handy when the lamb got there, were seated in a group near me, with Mrs. Ed Walsh on the reception committee. She was kept busy warming up her young son, who was cold, so he was wrapped in a blanket and told to get dressed. In 10 minutes he was back, wet and cold. He had gone in again.

Mr. Walsh Sr., was kept busy carving lamb till the line of customers was supplied.

I was very fortunate in having three ladies serving me. One brought a heaping plate of lamb and frijoles and salad, enough for two farm hands, on a folding table, another brought coffee and the third brought a fork, so I was all fixed except for capacity.

Mrs. Cosby, gnawing on a bone, which she said was good, came by, reproved me for not eating more.

Youngsters were all over the place, enjoying their dinner.

The young folks enjoyed the swimming to the fullest. One shapely young miss, (Stan Rose said she was about 14 but she looked older to me), jumped off the high board, about 12 feet above the water. I counted 20 jumps she made from the board into the 10 ft deep end of the pool. Boy, did she make a splash and a circle 20 feet across each time she jumped feet first!

The two sacrificial lambs were furnished by Dennis Tristram.

The "barbecue" was a grand finale to a very successful year for Lemon Grove 4-H Club. Like the little girl said at a church picnic—"I'm awful glad I came."

BROOKSIDE NOTES

LOIS K. LIGHTHART
HO 9-5721

B. Beene, 3462 Par Drive, capable clerk of the local road station of the Countl local road division is going on vacation. The first one in two years, he says.

He and his wife are going to visit Beene's mother in Avant, Oklahoma, who will reach her 80th birthday while he is there. He said he was going to visit his "rich and handsome uncles" at Conway, Arkansas, too, before returning home.

Mildred and Ralph Whitmus, 3415 Niblick, and son Raymond, 12, arrived home last Saturday evening after a three-week vacation trip through the Northwest which included visits with Ralph's parents in Spokane and his sister in Seattle. Highlights were seeing Crater Lake, and riding the skier's chair-lift to the top of Mt. Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Bettencourt and youngsters John, 8, and Barbara Jo, 4, came home last week to 3556 Trophy Dr. after covering about 8,000 miles by car during their three week vacation trip to Massachusetts and Maine. Relatives and friends in and around the Bettencourts home town of Peabody, Mass., gave them a warm welcome after seven years of absence. Large parties were frequent, and young John celebrated his birthday amidst nearly one hundred small guests, many of them cousins. One unfortunate incident marred the trip, however—on the night before reaching their destination, while the family slept in a motel, a thief cut the ropes which tied their wardrobe trunk to the carrying rack atop the car, and made off with the trunk and its contents, among which were all of the Bettencourt's best clothing.

Earlier in August the Bill Kerns', 3410 Trophy, returned from visiting Mary Helen's family in Waco, Texas, and friends in Dallas and Ft. Worth. The Kerns took a generous three weeks for the trip and stopped at Carlsbad Caverns on their way home so that Bruce, 7½, Susan, 6, and Mark, 5, could see the rocky wonders of the caves. In a dusty Indian shop near Carlsbad the Kerns' were pleased to find several handmade Navajo and Apache relics which Bruce and his dad will be proud to show their tribe of Indian Guides when meetings resume this Fall.
